AMERICAN DIETS

A good basic diet is one that provides all the nutrients needed for good health in proper amounts and in proper relation to each other. Each nutrient has its own job to perform. That job may be to supply calories or to build and repair body tissue.

Meat is one of the prime items in the diet of most Americans. It is an excellent one, and one of the most important sources of high quality protein. It is also a good source of most vitamins and minerals. The function of protein is the building of body tissues. Protein is made up of amico acids, which are often called "building blocks."

Meat is the most expensive single item in most American diets. For this reason it is important for housewives to know how to judge a piece of meat in the market before they buy .This will be the subject of a later column.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Windy Gets "Collared"

A stranger walked into Pudge Barton's store the other day wearing one of those "Chesterfield" coats. When the boys saw the fancy velvet collar, they broke out laughing.

The stranger seemed to ignore them and went on about his business. He even pretended he didn't hear Windy's remark about the "big city" coat. Then, on leaving, he walked over to Windy.

"I gather you find my coat peculiar," he said. "Well, where I come from we're so peculiar we even extend a hand to strangers." With that, he shook Windy's hand.

From where I sit, the twist on the old adage is true: "clothes don't make the man." We ought to judge a man for what he is. That's tolerance, something we ought to practice every day. For example, you like coffee . . . I like a glass of beer. That doesn't make either of us "different" or anything to laugh at.

with a heat pump in your all-electric home

It can be blustering winter or blistering summer outdoors. But inside your All-Electric Home, the miracle of the Heat Pump creates eternal spring.

The Heat Pump needs no fuel, no flue. It gives off no soot no fumes. For it operates on two parts air and one part electricity!

In winter, it captures and concentrates heat from the outside air to keep your home cozy. In summer, it reverses automatically to gather indoor heat and disperse it outdoors to keep your whole house heavenly cool.

Year around weather conditioning is priced for all to enjoy . . . ask VEPCO how to plan a Heat Pump for your All-Electric dream home. A home that's wired, lighted, equipped to Medallion Home standards . . . your guarantee of Better Living Electrically, now and for years to come.

KITE-FLYING TIME BRINGS WARNING

Spring is just around the corner and it will soon be kite-flying time again. Gaily colored kites with their funny looking tails zipping crazily through the air is one of the first signs of spring.

Reddy Kilowatt, who works with the Virginia Electric and Power Company, also likes to fly kites.

"Kite-flying is fun," he says, "but it is always best to fly them safely."

Here are some of the safety suggestions Reddy has for youngsters who enjoy the sport as much as he does.

1. Keep your kite away from electric lines and television antennae. Select a level place that is free of big rocks, trees, fences and other obstacles, so that you will have plenty of room.
2. Never use the streets and highways When your attention is on the kite, it is awfully easy to run in front of a car.
3. Be sure that your kite string doesn't have any metal in it and that it is properly coiled.
4. Don't use wet cord, or cord wit tinsel, or cord that is made with little strands of wire. If cords like these come in contact with electric lines, you may lose your life.
5. If your kite gets caught in a tree or pole, don't climb up to free it. Your dad had much rather buy you another kite than have you hurt from a fall or from coming in contact with electric lines.
6. Never fly your kite in the rain. It will soon stop mining and you can send your kite aloft again.

New TU-104

London.- A bigger version of the Russian TU-104 jetliner ba, flown from Moscow to Kiev and back without landing in three hours fifteen minutes for an average speed of 450 miles an hour, according to a Moscow radio report.

Aren't you glad you helped?

Red Cross was there when it was needed —because of you! Just see what your Red Cross dollars accomplished last year . . .

Services to the Armed Forces & Veterans
$32,824,308—Gave financial aid, counsel and emergency communication assistance to over 100,000 servicemen and their families each month in the year. Helped with 13,000 claims each month for veterans and surviving dependents. Maintained Clubmobiles and community centers in Korea, Europe, North Africa.

Disaster Services
$9,011,154—Provided food, clothing and shelter to 79,500 victims of 313 natural disasters in the United States. Gave rehabilitation aid to 10,150 families, repaired and rebuilt 2,100 homes.

Blood Services
$13,002,356—Collected and distributed over 2,200,000 pints of blood through nationwide network of regional blood programs.

Health, Nursing & Safety Services
$6,480,238—Gave first aid, water safety and home nursing instruction to over 2 million Americans. At year's end had over 58,000 professional nurses enrolled for volunteer service, and 21,000 first aid stations, detachments and mobile units in action.

Services & Assistance to Chapters
$4,631,430—Maintained the vital field service which co-ordinates all Red Cross activities, organizes volunteers, trains workers in handling disaster, blood, home nursing and other local programs.

Junior Red Cross
$3,093,253—Gave training in good citizenship to 20,400,000 youngsters in over 61,000 schools—through community service activities and international exchange programs.

Community Services
$1,049,499—Red Cross Chapters—working with local organizations—provided health and welfare services to ill, handicapped, aged and homeless people.

Public Information
$2,059,847—Brought news to the public of all Red Cross activities, services and programs available. Provided news about disaster emergencies, and informed the American people of need for volunteer workers and blood donors. Reported to members on how contributions were used.

Membership Enrollment & Fund Raising
$3,264,863—Carried on campaigns which enrolled 24,000,000 adult members who contributed over $84,000,000 to support Red Cross.

International Services
$191,615—Sent relief to foreign countries hit by disasters. Provided funds to help locate children and adults missing since World War II and the years that followed, and to reunite families. Sent food parcels to Americans behind the Iron Curtain and negotiated for their release.

General Management, Planning & Administration
$2,066,596—Administered and guided the entire Red Cross organization—national headquarters, four area offices and 3700 chapters—including accounting, auditing, personnel services and the training of staff workers.

Every dollar in the Red Cross financial statement represents a vital, indispensable service. To be ready for whatever needs may arise this year—Red Cross needs the support of every one of us. It's up to us to give freely—because it's our Red Cross.

Total expenditures for fiscal year ending June 30, 1958: $87,675,159
